

It's time to talk

Voluntary action, the state and welfare provision

You are warmly invited to a briefing hosted by Baroness Pitkeathley organised in partnership with History & Policy

Join us for an online discussion looking at how the changing role and contribution of voluntary action in social welfare can inform our response to and recovery from Covid-19.

We will draw implications from the ESRC-funded 'Discourses of Voluntary Action' study which explores differing public, voluntary sector and state perspectives on welfare provision past and future.

With reflections from our project partners

Kathy Evans, Children England

Steph Harland, Age UK

Kayleigh Wainwright, UK Youth and Karl Wilding, NCVO
